7. Misclicks (Errors in verbal declaration and errors in throwing out chips)

- a. When a player immediately attempts to correct his mistake, the TD can allow the player to redo the action. The following are such examples:
 - i. Blinds are 1000-2000. A player declares "fifty thousand" and then corrects himself by saying, "I meant five thousand."
 - ii. Blinds are 100-200. A player says "raise" and puts out a 5,000 chip. Dealer announces "raise to five thousand" , then the player says, "I put out the wrong chip, I wanted to raise to 500."
 - iii. Facing a bet of 2000, a player puts out 3,000. Dealer tells the player that he is supposed to make it to 4,000. The player says he meant to call, and not raise.
- b. The player in question will be warned and may be penalized for creating confusion.
- c. This house rule aims to do the following.
 - i. It makes it nearly impossible for players to angle shoot by "pretending" to make a mistake in order to disguise the strength of one' s hand and trap opponents.
 - ii. It reduces the punishment towards innocent mistakes.
 - iii. It is not the intention of this rule to allow players to easily redo their actions.

8. Accidentally killed hands

- a. Players are responsible for protecting their hands. However, when hands are accidentally killed, the TD will try to restore the hand as much as possible, if he is able to identify them with sufficient certainty, including asking the player what hand he held.
- b. If not, the TD will make a ruling according to the TDA rules.

9. Out of turn actions (OOT)

- a. When a player checks out of turn, he does not have the option to raise if the player in turn decides to bet.

- f. Failure to comply with any of the above will result in a penalty. Serious offenses will incur heavier penalties.

11. Player's obligation to play in a timely manner

- a. ASPT does not condone stalling. All players are obligated to act in a timely manner, and contribute to a smoothly paced game.
- b. ASPT believes that players should be given enough time to decide their actions. However, ASPT strongly discourages excessively slow actions, and may give warnings, penalties, or impose special measures (including an individual shot clock) to such players. Examples include, but are not limited to, the following.
 - i. Routinely taking unnecessary time to fold a that you have already decided to fold. For example, where a few seconds should suffice for routine prelop folds, staring down at your opponents, then taking several seconds to check one's cards, then staring down at your opponents again, and slowly mucking your hand will not be tolerated.
 - ii. Routinely asking the dealer of the current action and bet sizes, while refusing to take off one's headphones.
 - iii. Getting distracted by other activities (phone activities, chatting with a friend, etc.), routinely causing the table to remind you that it is your turn to act.
 - iv. Using an excessive amount of small denomination chips to make bets and raises. If the bet is 3300, using 33 $100 chips is not welcomed.

- b. All types of deals will be mediated by the floorman in charge.
- c. The floorman will initiate the deal-making only when there is a unanimous interest in making a deal.
- d. Once there is a unanimous agreement to discuss a deal, the floorman in charge will always let the players know the prize distribution based on the Independent Chip Model.
- e. Tournament will terminate if the deal leaves no cash prize to compete over, and the trophy will be awarded to the player who has the most chips.
